About Panipat:

Panipat is a historical town in the state of Haryana, India and is only 90 Km from delhi and lies on National Highway NH-1. The weather is pleasant in the month of November with average temperature 20° C.

About the Institution:

I B (PG) College, Panipat, a premier institute of higher education started its journey towards excellence in the year 1956. There are about 3000 students in the college in various faculties achieving their excellence. Keeping in pace with present times, the college has successfully introduced many job oriented courses approved by Haryana Government and Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra, India.

About the Conference:

The aim of NCMAS-2019 is to provide a platform to the researchers from different parts of the country to discuss recent advances in sciences. The conference will focus on the development of new ideas and techniques related to Physics, Chemistry, Mathematics, Forensic Science, Environment Science, Nano Science, Computer Science and many more areas of Science and Technology. Organization of this conference in Panipat will prove beneficial for students enrolled in science courses. Students will have exposure about the latest research and development in the different areas of science.
